Re: Thumb Drive for Court Relating to Parties' Submission on Discovery Disputes
Fenwick, et al. v. Ranbaxy
Case No.: 12-CV-07354-PGS-DEA
Our File No.: 170.187

Dear Honorable Judge Arpert:

Our law firm represents the plaintiffs in the captioned class action case. We recently filed plaintiffs' submission on the discovery disputes in the case. Our cover letter noted that a thumb drive would be sent under separate cover. The enclosed thumb drive contains 31 different spreadsheets, all of which were produced by the defendants with their discovery documents. The spreadsheets were produced in their native format by the defendants. Many of them are too large to print (at least one has thousands of rows).

There are placeholder pages with the documents that the defendants disclosed which bear the bates-stamped numbers of the corresponding spreadsheet. Each placeholder page has typed on it "this document has been produced in native format." When one of those placeholder pages is found among the defendants' documents, it means that the corresponding spreadsheet must be located, opened in Excel, and reviewed.

Attached hereto is a list of the file names, which include the bates-stamped numbers that they correspond with.

Respectfully yours,

GAINEY McKENNA & EGLESTON
